Mr Chairman,

Let me briefly thank you for the skilful way in which you and your team have chaired this meeting, and for the balanced and exhaustive way in which you have reflected our rich discussions in your factual summary.

In laying out the main arguments on the key issues, your report, as well as the reflections by Chair, will be a very valuable input as this review cycle proceeds.

By and large, my delegation has found our debate constructive, conducted with due respect for the different perspectives represented in this room.

For Sweden, concrete progress in all three pillars will continue to be our focus. Of particular importance will be progress on disarmament, including implementation of outstanding commitments from previous review cycles, not least the 13 practical steps from 2000 and the 2010 Action Plan. In light of the current security climate, this has never been more urgent.

Thank you!
